BUY ROOTED CUTTINGS

Many dahlia growers are of the opinion that there is a great risk in buying rooted cuttings but this has proved to be untrue. Customers that buy them have been more than satisfied and would not spend the additional amount for a potted plant.

Our cuttings are freshly pulled from the sand and shipped immediately to insure their arrival in good condition. Numerous growers have reported good results in planting directly in their gardens upon receipt of shipment. However, we do not recommend this practice unless growing conditions in your locality are favorable for outside planting. We suggest they be potted and protected for a few days and planted only when they start to show growth. Our experience has been that rooted cuttings produce excellent clumps.

Cuttings available from April 25th to June 1st.
